

How to spend a semester and summer at the Duke Marine Lab

A guide for Environmental Science majors (BS), no advanced placement credit

Freshman	Fall	Chem 21L	Math 31L	Begin Language	Environ 25 (optional)	Courses to fulfill T-REQs
	Spring	Chem 22L	Math 32L	Continue Language	Courses to fulfill T-REQs
Sophomore or Junior DURHAM	Fall	Chem 151 L (optional)	Biology 25L	Finish Language	Courses to fulfill T-REQs
	Spring	Probability and statistics course	EOS 11 or 12	Courses to fulfill major requirements and T-REQs
Sophomore or Junior MARINE LAB*	Fall	Physics 53L	Ecology course	Environ and Biology electives (may fulfill Focused Study requirement)	Research Independent Study	Includes optional fall break travel courses to Panama, California and France
	Spring	Physics 54L (optional)	Ecology course	Environ and Biology electives (may fulfill Focused Study requirement)	Research Independent Study	Includes optional field trip courses to Singapore and Trinidad
Senior	Fall	Finish major requirements and T-REQs
	Spring	Finish major requirements and T-REQs
Summer MARINE LAB*		Summers are a great opportunity to fulfill major requirements and electives including physiology, biochemistry, invertebrate zoology/diversity, genetics, ecology/evolution, plus Physics 53L/54L and Research Independent Study.

You can spend Sophomore or Junior year plus ANY summer at the Duke Marine Lab - they all offer a great opportunity to fulfill major, minor and Trinity requirements, plus complete a Research Independent Study. Check out the great travel opportunities available during fall and spring, too!

*Note: In order to count Marine Lab courses towards your major, you must first obtain permission from the Director of Undergraduate Studies in your Department.